

Zhuoyue Xu

*Scholar/Performer

*Solo Pianist

*Collaborative Pianist

*Educator

*Harpsichordist

D.M.A. (Candidate) University of Missouri-Kansas City; M.M. Boston University, College of Fine Arts; B.M. Capital Normal University, College of Music.

A native of China, Zhuoyue Xu is pursuing her Doctor of Musical Arts in Piano Performance at the University of Missouri- Kansas City. She got her Master of Music degree from Boston University, her Bachelor of Music Performance from the Capital Normal University. Zhuoyue is an active pianist, collaborative pianist, chamber musician, harpsichordist, and private teacher. She was classically trained in both of Piano and Harpsichord and has performed extensively nationally and internationally. Zhuoyue won the Hong-Kong International Piano Competition and other competitions. She performs extensively throughout the United States, Central America, Russia and China. During her study at UMKC, she was also honored “Musica Nova scholarship” from the Musica Nova program. Zhuoyue has given presentations and recitals at Diastole Scholars’ Center, White Recital Hall and Grant Recital Hall. She was a Piano Instructor in couple Music Educational institutions since she was an undergraduate student in Beijing, China. This nine-year teaching experience helped her to understand that teaching was a right choice for her career. In both her academic and professional life, Zhuoyue Xu is organized, responsible, active, enthusiastic, and positive.